2. Mauer-gehling:

CONFIDENTIAL

Troops were still quartered in the northwestern section of the state insane asylum (in about one third of the asylum block on 1 February 1950. The asylum area was hidden from view by a high board fence. Gate guards wore red-bordered black epaulets. However, coming and going officers and ~~Tr~~ primarily belonged to the infantry.

25X1C

An AT gun of about 76.2-mm caliber with long barrel, muzzle brake and rubber-tired disc-wheels was seen at the gate.

Troops practiced with small-caliber, short-barreled guns in the asylum area, this was observed from the train.

Several officers' billets were observed in Mauer. The troops stationed in Mauer-gehling were estimated at one battalion(4).
